

At my retirement party, I can still dance.

It's about knowing what counts.

it's different for everyone | the grandkids all go to college | we get to spend our 35th anniversary in Florence | at my retirement party, I'm nowhere near "retiring" | what counts is as unique to each person as a snowflake | it's finding some lasting meaning from all this hard work | it's more money for the charities I believe in | it's more time for the people I love | whatever it means to you | you need someone to help you put more of it | into your life
